Have a teddy bear (or other toys) picnic. What will you all eat? What will you talk about? How many plates do you need? Make a shopping list?

Literacy

Can you make your own little book about going on a bear hunt? Re-tell the story.

Can you make porridge with your grown up? What do you need? Write down the recipe, you can draw pictures and use the sounds you already know.

Understanding of the World

How many different bears can you think of? How are they different from each other? And different from humans?

What kind of trees can you see near your home? In the park? Do the-leaves fall off? Are they deciduous trees or coniferous trees?

Have you got some ice in the freezer? What does it feel like? What happens when you leave it out of the freezer? Does it change?

Communication and language

Where do you live? How is it different to where animals live?

If you were a bear what questions would you ask humans? What would you like to find out about them?

What do you know about polar bears? Grizzly bears?

Can you re-tell your favourite bear story?

Physical Development

What did you have for breakfast? How does that compare with what bears eat? What can bears find in the forest to eat? Draw and cut out some pictures of those foods. Are they healthy foods? Or unhealthy?

Can you pretend to be a bear? How will you move differently?

Can you create some characters to go with your favourite bear story? Cut them out carefully.

Maths

How many bears can you draw? Count them and try and write each number under each bear.

Which bowls will you give to which bear to eat their porridge in Goldilocks and the three bears? What bowl will baby bear have? How many bowls do you need so everyone can have food?

Expressive Arts and Design

Do you remember the song? When Goldilocks went to the house of the bear:
