What is Lila doing?

Lila felt the gentle touch of a raindrop on her foot ... then another and another and another until the ground was awash with tears of rain.

turned around

turned my palms
up

looked up to the sky

lifted my hands

looked down to the ground joyfully lifted up her hands to the crying sky for each felt like one of her mama's kisses.

What is Lila doing?

cried with joy

rejoiced shouted out

jumped with

joy danced

What do you think she did next?

rushed bounded

rolled skipped

slid jumped sped

sprinted skated

As fast as she could, Lila ran down the mountain.

By the time she reached home, all the villagers were celebrating the rain with music and dancing.

What are Lila and her family doing?

shrieked partied
cheered
celebrated
danced
played
collected water
enjoyed the rain
drank
thanked the sky

I lifted my palms out gratefully to feel the rain and then I looked up to the sky, pleased that my grandfather was right and threw my arms up into the air with joy. I sprinted rapidly as fast as my feet could carry me back down the mountain. Surprisingly, when I came back to the village, people were already celebrating. In the village, I danced energetically with my family. We played music, sang songs and celebrated.

our diary entry.

WALT: use adverbs to write the ending of

I was so overjoyed I felt like I was floating.
I lifted my palms out to feel the rain stroking my skin and then I looked up passionately to the sky and threw my arms joyfully up into the air. I ran speedily as fast as my feet could carry me back down the mountain. In the village I danced merrily with my family. We played music, sang songs and celebrated the arrival of the rain.
