

Elfin the Christmas Elf

Elfin the elf sat on his shelf waiting for all the children to go to bed. At ten o'clock, all was still! He sneaked down into the front room for his night of tricks. He saw the big, green Christmas tree across the room. "I want to climb that tree," he said to himself. He took some sticky tape to help him climb.

Elfin the elf was hanging about on his shelf waiting for all the children to be tucked up in bed. He felt very full from all the chocolate biscuits he had eaten last night. At ten o'clock, all was still! He sneaked down into the kitchen for his night of tricks. In the living room, he saw the beautiful Christmas tree and said, "Tonight is the night for a climbing adventure." He picked up the sticky tape to help him stick to the tree and began to climb.

Elfin the Christmas Elf

Elfin the elf was sneakily hanging about on his high shelf waiting for all the children to be tucked up in bed. While he waited, he happily chuckled about the mischief he had got up to last night. He had eaten a whole packet of chocolate biscuits before the family found him in the morning. The night before that, he had written his name in toothpaste on the bathroom mirror.

At ten o'clock, the house fell silent! He sneaked down into the kitchen to begin his night of mischief. In the living room, Elfin saw the beautifully lit Christmas tree and decided tonight was the night for a climbing adventure. He grabbed some sticky tape to help him stay stuck to the tree and he began to climb, knocking off baubles everywhere.
